In the heart of Mediterranean, among antiques, rich history, sea and green hills; the linear surfaces, washed out colors, fascinating transparencies and refined materials make Nympheum the ideal setting for the implementation of a new visionary hospitality concept.

The world famous ancient town of Side with its well preserved amphitheatre and the landmark Apollo Temple is only 2 km away from the project. Local parks, mini markets & restaurants are close by. A further 5 min walk you can reach the lively Kemer Boulevard with local transport services, many shops, bars and everyday conveniences.

The 2 beautiful beaches that flank Side peninsular are at equal distance from Nympheum. The West beach is bustling along the new promenade with many beach clubs & water sport centres whereas the East beach is more tranquil and unspoilt with a lovely setting of the Antique Roman Ruins nestled amongst the sand dunes.

Following the speedy completion in 2010 of the new pedestrian promenade on the West beach, there is now also a new regeneration project in the pipeline concerning a further promenade along the East beach. This will create ease of access from Side peninsular to the protected Sorgun forests which are located 1.5 km to the East.

Due to the restrictions on building along the East Beach the new promenade will enhance it's natural beauty & become a great attraction owing to the Roman Archaeological sites, fantastic sandy beach, great facilities and lovely scenery.

The second new promenade & ongoing improvements in Side infrastructure will continue to add a lot of value which will naturally affect property prices making Nympheum a safe but sound investment opportunity with strong rental demand and high capital appreciation.
